DEPARTURE OF THE BRAZILIAN MINISTER.

The retirement of Baron Gondin, Minister Plenipotentiary of Brazil, after so many years' service in the River Plate will cause a void in our Diplomatic circle not to be easily filled; and although we congratulate him on his merited promotion, the regret is not the less general at the departure of a family that adorned for so many years the highest social circles of Buenos Aires. During Baron Gondin's long term of office in the Plate, we have passed through very stirring times, and international questions of much acerbity frequently arose; but on every occasion and on every question Baron Gondin displayed not only the friendliest feelings towards the Plate, but also that great Diplomatic talent for which so many of his distinguished countrymen are renowned. The friendly relations between the two countries were not only strengthened during Baron Gondin's long term of office, but also, due to the prominent part taken by this Minister on all our public occasions, sharing with us our toils and our efforts in matters beyond the jurisdiction of diplomacy, this able Minister has created a higher and better appreciation of Brazil and the Brazilians than perhaps was ever before entertained in this country.

The public of the Plate has not forgotten the efforts of the Brazilian diplomat to help to success our great Exhibition last year. Brazil on that memorable occasion took precedence of all other countries in its outlay and its efforts to help that cause; and we have noted, with much pleasure, that within the last few years a very great change has come over the River Plate public mind in all matters connected with Brazil and the Brazilians. National animosities have died out, or have been removed. We no longer regard Brazil as a species of hereditary foe, or national enemy; and although questions are still pending between the two countries, they are matters more of a geographical than political import. Frontier lines have to be drawn, and limits arranged, inevitable questions between neighbouring States; but these are questions pregnant with no deep political issue, and amenable to prompt and easy settlement. The limit question between Brazil and the Argentine Republic, about the Misiones territory, can never be regarded as a source of danger to the peace of the Plate. Not so the political throes and issues of the Banda Oriental, which unfortunately form a permanent source of inquietude both here and at the Court of San Cristobal; and it is impossible to offer any opinion on this subject, since affairs in the Banda Oriental ever present a most unstable aspect.

Baron Gondin, on his retirement from the Plate, takes with him the esteem and good wishes of all the representative public men here with whom he was thrown in contact; and the Baroness (whom we are proud to claim as a countrywoman) and her daughters will be immensely missed by both native and foreign fashionable circles, in which she so long mixed and took the lead.

FROM OUR BROTHER-EDITOR.

London, May 1st, 1883

As this is the 22nd anniversary of the Standard I seize the occasion to salute its readers, wishing them all health and prosperity. The world has gone through many changes since the first English daily paper in the South American continent first saw the light, under the shadow of the "paredon de San Francisco," and many of the friends who cheered on the little champion of progress in its infancy have since "gone over to the majority," but there are happily surviving many others with whom the relations of "auld lang syne" are again quickened into life by the recollections of to-day.

In Europe financial matters at present are uppermost; new loans for Holland, Belgium and Australia divide attention with M. Tirard's proposal to convert the French fives into 4½ per cents. The Dutch loan was subscribed so many times over that applicants will only receive about 6 per cent of what they applied for. The Belgians expect to get 102 for their proposed issue of 4 per cents. One cannot help thinking that if M. Leon Say had the charge of French finances instead of M. Tirard the debt might be converted to 4 per cents. If little Belgium can get money at 4 per cent, why does France, the richest of continental nations, convert her debt at 4½? It is true that the French conversion amounts to 230 millions sterling, but it is not an increase of debt, and the wealth of France has grown so prodigiously in late years that she ought not to pay more than 4 per cent. We shall not know till the 16th of August whether the conversion prove successful or not, but of this there can be little doubt.

As regards Belgium her credit stands deservedly high, and on a smaller scale the same increase of wealth is noted as in France. The rental of Belgium, land and houses, was a little over 11 millions sterling in 1864, and in 1878 it almost touched 16 millions. The exact increase was 42 per cent or about 3 times as great as the growth of population. If we compare Belgium with Ireland we are at a loss to understand the distress in the latter country. The rental of real estate in Ireland is 14 millions, and as the population is 10 per cent less than in Belgium the relative degree of wealth is the same. Taxation in Belgium is heavier than in Ireland, but then Belgium has no absentee landlords, and the area of land in Ireland paying rent to people living in England is 3,205,000 acres, representing at least 3 millions sterling per annum.

There is a very able letter in to-day's Times by Mr. Mitchell Henry (an Englishman who owns property in Ireland), who calls attention to the fact that the incidence of taxation in Ireland is double what it is in England, as I pointed out last July in an article in the Contemporary Review. Unless taxation be reduced in Ireland one-half, we shall have to continue the absurd financial method of tax-gatherers collecting revenue with one hand and doling out soup with the other.

If I do, not weary you with figures I will shew you the incidence of taxation in the three Kingdoms, as from Income-tax returns:—

	Rental of real estate in mil. Pons £	Revenue	Incidence
	—	£	p. c.
England and W.	175	64,846,000	37
Scotland.....	23	10,376,000	45
Ireland.....	14	8,819,000	63

If it be alleged that real estate rental is no gauge of national wealth, you may compare the total assessed Incomes of the three Kingdoms and you will find the same disproportion:—

	Assessed incomes mil ons £	Incidence of revenue
	—	Per cent
England...	486	13
Scotland...	56	18
Ireland....	36	25

Thus in whatever way you take it the taxation of Ireland is double what it ought to be. As Lord Chatham said "Nations do not reason, but they feel," and the burthen laid on Ireland is felt, though neither Mr Parnell nor Lord Spencer has any idea where the shoe pinches.

The Tasmanians, who are really making great progress, go in for a new loan to-morrow, for £500,000 at 4 per cent, no bid to be under 98. These Van Diemeners, only 113,000 souls, have a revenue of £549,000, nearly £5 a head or double our ratio in Great Britain, and their exports last year reached £1,587,000 or £14 a head. They have in their Savings Bank within a fraction of 3 millions sterling. Possibly if the people in Ireland were allowed to manage their own affairs they might turn out as well as the Van Diemeners, many of whom are direct lineal descendants of Whiteboys and Blackfeet transported for resisting the payment of tithes or for other semi-political offences.

Your own correspondent keeps you so well posted in the news of the day that I need not poach on his preserves. While I write, the barriers at Hyde Park corner are pulled down, where the Duke's statue stood, to allow the Prince of Wales to open the new street, which makes a grand sweep in front of Apsley House. The inauguration takes place at 2 p.m. on this auspicious anniversary. As usual, all the brewers' and omnibus horses are dressed in ribands in honor of May Day.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE PHŒNIX PARK MURDERS.

May 3.

Irish informers and Irish agrarian delinquents are constants in the political calculations of this country, but there is an air of novelty, as well as something truly pathetic, in the confessions of the men who have recently pleaded "guilty" in the Dublin courts and been condemned to death. It has been said over and over again, by those who knew the Irish lower classes, that their chief faults are ignorance and superstition. Never has the fact become so obvious as in the late trials. We must look back for a few days, and call to mind that two men, Curley and Brady, have been condemned to death as principals in the Phœnix Park tragedy, and that a mere boy, Kelly, has been tried for the same offence three times, and has, so far, escaped, owing to the discharge of the juries, who, in spite of the evidence, disagreed as to the verdict. Men like Mr. O'Donnell, with the characteristic levity which ends in habitual inveraciousness, have not scrupled to accuse the Dublin courts of "judicial murder," in sentencing to death the condemned criminals; and now, in spite of the warnings of their counsel, the two poor fellows, Patrick Delaney and Thomas Caffrey, have pleaded guilty. They have done this, knowing that they would be sentenced and when they must have also known that one of the accused, the carman, Fitzharris—called "skin the goat"—had just been acquitted, a circumstance that might have raised their hopes of saving their lives. They seemed, however, bent on making a clean breast of it, and something akin to disillusion seems to have entered the minds of these poor men, sobered by prison discipline, and removed from the influences of the few hardened men who made use of them as the tools of murder-clubs and villainies.

Delaney, after he had been cautioned by the judges, said he had taken no part in the murder of Mr. Bourke and Lord Frederick Cavendish. The murders were committed by Joe Brady and Timothy Kelly! The poor man added, that he had been forced to go into the Park on that day, or else his life would have been forfeited. After the assassination he had to fly in Kavanagh's car. In regard to the attack on Judge Lawson, Delaney claims to have saved that gentleman's life by drawing the attention of the Judge's escort to the attempt. He was put up to it, he says, by Joe Brady and Mullet. Delaney was sentenced to be hanged at Kilmainham on June 2nd.

Thomas Caffrey was then put forward, and he also pleaded guilty. He said in a firm voice—"Standing here on the brink of my grave, I declare that I did not know what was to come on until about twenty minutes or half an hour previous. I had to go there or my life would have been taken. That is all I have to say." He, too, was sentenced to be hanged on the 2nd of June.

The twelve months, from May 6, 1882, have not yet expired, and four of the Phœnix Park murderers are in the condemned cells. The only one remaining on the list of indictments is Timothy Kelly, who, after Delaney's confession, is not likely to find a jury to disagree again. As for "Skin the goat," he was more astonished than any one at his acquittal. He had so made up his mind to be hanged, that it was only by the persuasion of his counsel that he was prevented from pleading guilty. He escaped from the mere accident that not sufficient proof was brought forward of his being in the Park at the time of the assassinations. The Judge—O'Brien—with admirable impartiality laid the bearing of this defect in the evidence plainly and strongly before the jury. Fitzharris was well known on his stand, where his cab stood for hire, near Merrion-square. He was rather a favourite, and had done many a good turn for his customers. He was like other Irishmen of the lower class, who, when they are well-treated, and not snubbed by vulgar English pomposity, can easily be won over to serve you; but, alas! the same kindliness of nature reposes on a certain feebleness which can as easily be worked upon for political or superstitious purposes. The same feebleness is common in sensitive and imaginative people who love mystery and are swayed by the secret power of the unknown—be the unknown some supposed grand association for the regeneration of Ireland, or even plain No. 1. It is curious to look back upon the bravado, the smiles of these criminals when first placed in the dock. The bravado is part of their nature, and springs from excitability and faith. When with prison diet and surroundings the excitement ceases, their courage wanes, and they turn informers and blubber out confessions and own themselves deceived; but still without remorse for political murders, they look upon superstitiously as not so much praiseworthy, but as something they were ordered to do, or forced to do, by fate and the "club," in America or somewhere.

The Irish-Americans must surely feel a twinge of remorse at seeing these poor dupes hanged one after the other, whilst they themselves are safe in an Anglo-Saxon people, and shot like a heap of rubbish into the midst of these Anglo-Saxon institutions they affect to despise.

The only sensible man amongst Irish agitators is Mr. Davitt. He is imprisoned, not on account of his good sense, but, I am ashamed to confess, because Anglo-Irish officials are not, under existing circumstances, very particular; and his imprisonment is a disgrace to this Government. But he, at least, sees that the best friends of Ireland are the English working classes, and he wisely joins with them against a common enemy—landlordism. O'Donovan Rossa and his malignant crew are simply the despair of the friends of Ireland in all classes and all countries. The telegrams that appear in the English papers, in regard to the Philadelphia Convention, seem to be mendacious. The last we receive states that Mr. Sullivan, President of the new Irish National League, has been received by Cardinal M'Closkey, the Catholic Archbishop of New York, who, in the course of the interview, expressed his approval of the proceedings of the recent Philadelphia Convention. This may mean that to a certain extent the Convention ignored the Rossa and dynamite faction, and on account of the relatively moderate tone of the proceedings, the Archbishop may have conferred upon them his sanction.

The following paragraph must be pleasant reading to decent and independent Americans, and reminds one of the old evil "miscegenation" in a new form:—

"The formal opening of the East River Bridge, between New York and Brooklyn, having been fixed for May 24th, the New York Irishmen complain that this is the Queen's birthday, and that the opening would consequently be distasteful to them. They threaten to wreck the bridge with a dynamite explosion unless the day be changed. The New York Board of Aldermen have, in consequence, adopted a resolution requesting the trustees to change the date to May 30th, because the Queen's birthday is an anniversary offensive to the Irish race. A Philadelphia correspondent states that the American public are simply astonished."

From the first list given to them they excluded the name of Thomas Martin, against whom they said there was no evidence.

True bills have been returned against Walsh, Tynan and Sheridan for the Phœnix Park murders.

The trials are now, with the amount of evidence collected, proceeding rapidly, and no one can challenge the fairness of their conduct.

The Daily News of this morning, May 4th, says:

The excitement which was felt in the Green-street Court at Dublin when true bills for murder were found against Tynan, Walsh, and Sheridan has communicated itself by submarine cable to New York, where those gentry are residing. Our Correspondent in that city describes the trepidation and flurry which the action of the Crown Prosecutors in Ireland and of the Grand Jury has created. The motive of the proceeding is not open to doubt. In France these suspected and now accused persons would be tried in their absence, and doubtless sentenced to death for contumacy in not appearing. The Government intends probably to make the charge of wilful murder, on which the Grand Jury have found a true bill, a basis for demanding the extradition of "Number One," and of Walsh and Sheridan, who in this connection may be called Numbers Two and Three. Wilful murder is of course a crime for which extradition can be demanded. But it will be for the proper American tribunal to decide whether there is such evidence of the fact as would justify extradition, and then whether the fact, if it be established in such a manner as would lead to the surrender of the accused in ordinary circumstances, is not clothed with a quasi-political character, which takes it out of the range of what by a barbarous technicality may be called extraditable offences. We must presume that the Government, assuming that they are about to follow up in New York in the way we have supposed the action taken in Dublin, have well considered their ground. The murders in the Phœnix Park cannot be said to be in any true sense political offences. But the United States authorities, judicial and executive, may possible feel that it is safer to strain a sound principle so as to cover even outrageous wickedness rather than to run the risk of providing a dangerous precedent for its violation in cases of less moral guilt.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

May 1.

France has at last been brought face to face with her incurable or relapsed criminals, called Recidivists, and who the popular classes demand with energy shall be expelled society. The Government, taking the ball at the bound, introduced a Bill to transport for life, to New Caledonia or elsewhere, all accused who had undergone four convictions in ten years. But this measure, when examined by the Chamber, has been found too Procrustean and too Draconian. The courts were not to be merely an office for the registration of convicts, but a tribunal where judges ought to exercise their duty of judging, whether or not antecedents or circumstances did not exist to extenuate the position of the accused.

For a good deal of the rampant crime existing, society is itself to blame. Next in responsibility follows prison life, where all is promiscuity, the hardened criminal being the companion of the juvenile offender. Any elements of reformation in the latter become thus at once annihilated. In the corrupting influences of prison life France cannot but take rank in the first line.

It is but just to add, insurmountable difficulty exists to recognise a relapsed criminal. This is owing to the habit they have acquired of changing their names. And this habit is common with workpeople and young persons of 15 years of age. You can select the name of some individual in your rank of life corresponding as to age. The registrar gives a certificate of such baptism for a few sous, and the daw starts on his career of evil with borrowed feathers. Later, when the real owner of the name demands a certificate of his état, he finds noted against him on the registry condemnations for crimes of which he is wholly innocent. It was thus the famous Cognard passed off as the famous Comte de Sainte Hélène, and his skull in the prison of Brest, a model of perfect formation, attests his end.

Three-fourths of the relapsed criminals in the country cannot be identified by the gaolers, though the latter are paid a premium of five francs for every case of identification. Some criminals, when they perpetrate a heinous crime, commit instantly a petty one, so as to be arrested, lodged in prison, and thus escape detection. Others, mostly the young, with the view of escaping the "goody measures" for reform, and so being kept apart, declare they are relapsed, so as to enjoy the general gaol society.

There are 10,000 foreigners who have been expelled France, and conducted to the frontier by the police, who have re-entered, arriving in Paris even before the return of their escort, and occasionally in the same train with the law officers.

During the last eight years, 75,000 photos have been taken of criminals in Paris and the suburbs. Except in the case of a noted murder, these photos are worthless. Mostly, the criminal is arrested—when he confesses. Society protests against marking or tatooing its gaol-birds; that would kill all chance of reformation. The marking might be discovered when sleeping, as in the case of Balza's Vautrin, or by his doctor, etc., and thus become low in his own eyes. The most difficult criminal to deal with is the energetic, the intelligent, and the partly educated—he who studies the code in his cell. It is a noteworthy fact, that it is only within the last ten years that women prisoners have adopted the habit of assuming false names.

The Duc d'Aumale, at present in Sicily, visiting his famous vineyard at Zucco, which he inherited from his wife, has been warmly reproached in his own journal, the Soleil, for passing his time in study and feasting and hunting at his semi-royal Chantilly residence instead of buckling on his armour and making a bold stroke for the crown—a rôle, it may be said without fear of contradiction, above the courage of the Orleanists. The Legitimists suggest to their cousins to bow simply the knee to the Comte de Chambord, and not dream of kingship. The Bonapartists recommend both sections of pretenders to rally to the fortunes of Napoleon V.

The question here presents itself—What is the condition of the Republic? It has had formerly more friends than now; the difficulty, what can replace it, exists as strongly as ever. The generals are said to be dissatisfied, chiefly because they have got no work to do. The monetary world is cautious and hesitating. The material prosperity of the nation is in check. The taxation of the country is excessive—about 30 per cent. higher than in England—and it cannot be reduced for several years. A loan of one milliard is necessary to balance the Budget. This will affect fundholders, who number 2½ millions, and the vast majority, peasants. If the Funds experience a serious fall, and a bad harvest ensue, the Republic will have to run before the wind. The most rigid order and economy are necessary; and in the new reforms the aim should be to repair without demolishing, and to ameliorate without destroying.

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND THE FENIANS.

Washington, May 4th.

It is stated that up to yesterday evening the British Legation here had received no dispatches from England regarding the extradition of Tynan, Sheridan and Walsh.

The New York Herald of to-day publishes a despatch from Washington, authoritatively stating that if any demand for extradition is made by England, and the evidence produced shows merely a conspiracy in this country to commit murder in England, the request will not be granted. In all demands for the extradition of alleged murderers the United States Government will demand a certified copy of the indictment, supported by the attested depositions on which it was based. The despatch adds that if the evidence required by the Extradition Treaty with England is not conclusive, none of the parties whose extradition is demanded will now or hereafter be given up.

Walsh, on being interviewed yesterday by a newspaper reporter, is represented to have declared that he was not guilty of complicity in the Phœnix Park murders, and would not fear the result could an informer be brought here and the trial be held before an American judge and jury, whereas if tried in Dublin his conviction was certain. Walsh declared that he could procure the most convincing evidence to show that he was in England at the time of the tragedy. Sheridan declares himself to be fearless of any efforts of the British Government against him, and says that at any time he may be called upon by the U. States Courts he is ready to defend himself. Regarding his presence in Dublin at the time of the murders, Sheridan states that he would make a statement on the subject at the proper time.

The report circulated in Dublin and London that Messrs Walsh and Sheridan had been arrested is untrue. The latter disclaims all knowledge of Tynan, and contends that Mr Trevelyan himself described the Phœnix Park murder as political. Mr Sheridan's counsel report that they have gone through the facts carefully, and are agreed that there is no ground on which to base a demand for extradition. They also said they had been informed on the best authority that Tynan was not "No. 1," but refused to divulge who that person was, only stating that he had had a remarkable and interesting career. A reporter of the Tribune declares that he learned a fortnight ago on the best authority that Tynan was then in New York. Yesterday he was informed that he went to San Francisco on Wednesday last via Philadelphia. It is known that Tynan was at the Philadelphia Convention under an assumed name. The Times, on the other hand, says that Tynan is here under the surveillance of English detectives. His wife and children are said to be with him, and he is stated to have declared himself convinced that he is under no danger of extradition. The editor of the Irish World is also supposed to be here attending to business. Mr Sullivan, the President of the National League, says the League will take no official action in the matter. Individual members may, and probably will, assist the accused, but their action will not compromise the League. The New York Tribune, in a leading article, says it trusts there will be no disposition on the part of the United States Government to shirk their responsibilities, nor, on the other hand, to deal hastily or unjustly with the accused. The obligation to surrender a criminal whose guilt can be established must be recognised, but at the same time the right of asylum is one not to be denied unless the evidence of complicity is conclusive. If the evidence adduced would warrant conviction by an American tribunal, the accused must be sent to Dublin, as public law and common justice require. There can be no occasion for making false and fantastic distinctions between murder and political offences, if complicity in the Phœnix Park murder can be established.

THE SALADILLO TUNNEL.

The following precis of a long letter that appeared in yesterday's Nacion may interest our readers, as it throws some light on the vexed question of the extension of the Central North Railway to Salta:—

Tucuman, May 20th.

It is alike a pleasure and a duty for me to send your paper details of the inspection made, by the Committee of National Engineers, of the extension of the Central North Railway. I am glad to aid your patriotic propaganda in the matter. I will give you the naked facts, without any observations of my own.

The first thing the Minister's party did on reaching Tucuman was to look for lodgings, H.E. himself taking up his quarters in the house of the Director of the works, and the others were taken in by several friends. The weather was so bad that they only got their first look at the extension works on the second day. The Minister was unwell and could not accompany them, but I did. We went off in an express at 11 a.m. on the 9th and soon found ourselves at the southern end of the Tunnel, although we made some stoppages to inspect some culverts, etc.

The earthworks are of some importance, and include embankments and cuttings that involved much labour; most of the escarpments have an incline of one in three. The ditches for draining are insufficient, and in some places there are none at all. The merest tyro can see that there has been great lack of direction in the earthworks, and in some cuttings the earth is piled up dangerously on the top and likely to be washed down again by the rain. What engineers call the compensation system has been completely ignored in these works.

The permanent way leaves much to be desired and will have to be relaid. The curves are badly traced, and the engineer seems to have forgotten that the outside rail of a curve is longer than the inner one; many of the joints are lying on the sleepers. The rails seem to have been laid on the principle—down with them, any way, but down with them.

In the Tunnel we could scarcely see anything the light was so bad. It is being parapeted and lined at both ends while the excavation is going on in the middle. The bricks are merely passable, as only very lately has the factory turned out any good ones. The stone used at the mouths of the tunnel is chalky and not hard; in fact a very bad stone for such work. At the North end we saw men at work, engines puffing away, materials lying about pell-mell, and disorder everywhere. There was no elbow room, and the navvies appeared to be in each other's way. There appears to be no organization or directing mind; in fact the same is apparent all along the extension.

The viaduct begins a little beyond the tunnel, and I was utterly flabbergasted to see, a few yards off, the very same train that we had left at the Southern end of the tunnel. It had come round the hill on a temporary track, as if to prove beyond doubt that the costly tunnel is a blunder and quite unnecessary. I almost fainted with astonishment, Mr. Editor. It is as plain as a pikestaff that the tunnel and viaduct could have been spared, by a very slight deviation of the route. The viaduct is 300 metres long, yet a small bridge of 10 metres long would have been sufficient! I don't know how this little job was managed, but I do know that the Board of Public Works approved it.

The embryonic viaduct is marked by a lot of wires, the spots for the pillars being marked by hanging wires. The funicular system has been adopted, the very worst plan; and the Saladillo is destined to see some queer engineering results. The execution of the works is quite as bad as the plan. The foundations for the pillars are being made in holes, full of water and firm ground has not been reached, so it is utterly impossible to tell what the cost of the viaduct will be; and the outlay increases every foot sunk in quest of firm bottom, of which there may be none. If not, piles to support 28 metres of brick and mortar must be driven, and this will be expensive work. Why were not borings, to test the ground, first made? The whole thing was begun without the remotest idea as to how or when it could be finished.

At the off end of the viaduct they have cut a canal to supply water, but without obtaining a single drop, and the same has occurred at Vipos, farther on. I am not surprised, as the Director of the works once made Water Works for Tucuman, yet never could get the precious fluid to the fountains in the Plaza.

We went on for three kilometres more. The same story; the earth filled on the top of the cuttings, while the embankments were made by excavating, at great cost, the ground on each side. We then returned and galloped off to look at the Brick Factory, connected with the trunk line by another costly temporary track. The factory is large and well planned. The manager says he will soon turn out 40,000 bricks daily, but up to the present the factory has proved a mistake, yet it cost 50,000 pats.

At 6 p.m. we returned to Tucuman. Next day we went out again, without the Minister, who was still sick. At Saladillo we took horses for Vipos. On the way there are extensive cuttings and embankments, but nothing finished. One of the arches of a culvert, made of "piedra de yeso," has already become elliptic!!! The bricks used in the culverts are only half baked and have no consistency; the mortar appears to be utterly without lime. The Director and Inspector of the works had a row in our presence about another culvert, part of which was made with mud. The Inspector gave the order to have the work re-done, but the Director took no notice of it.

On the gallop back to Vipos for breakfast I noticed that some of the "alcantarillas" were twisted, the very rudiments of engineering having been ignored in their construction.

Some of the embankments of most importance are also faulty, and the cause of this, I was told, was that a mistake had been made in the levels in the beginning, and could not be rectified. In conversation I learned that some of the errors in the levels were of seven metres!!! If one of our young engineers had done this, he was a lost man.

Along the line I saw twisted rails pitched here and there, Decauville waggons broken, and their grease boxes flung about in all directions. It is most painful to see how the good-will of the Government has been abused and public money squandered in carrying out the aspirations for progress of the Government.

I forgot to tell you that the Minister came after us to Saladillo on the second day, looking at the Brick Factory while we were at Vipos, and then returning to Tucuman. I may also tell you that the members of the Engineers' Committee were dumb all through, and made no remark worth mentioning.

Yours truly,

N, N.

FAMILY EXPENSES.

The following article from the New York Herald is quite as applicable to this very extravagant city as to that to which it refers:—

"After religion and politics, there is nothing about which intelligent people differ so radically as what they call the cost of living. A skilled man in some department of business will earn several thousand dollars a year, spend nothing on wine, women or horses, yet always be in debt. Some acquaintance of his, with similar salary and a larger family, lives comfortably, sends his boys to college, drives a good horse and has a snug little bank account. There are mechanics earning two dollars a day who comfortably feed and clothe a family of half a dozen people, while some of their fellow-workmen, married, but without children, live meanly, wear shabby clothes on Sundays, and are occasionally ejected from their homes for non-payment of rent. The principal cause of the difference may almost always be found in the family larder and the family wardrobe. Americans, whether rich or poor, know but little more about economy of food than an equal number of savages. Some families must breakfast on either beefsteaks or mutton chops; others will serve just as much meat and make it just as palatable at a quarter of the expense of choice cuts, because they know how to cook. Temperance has much influence on the larder. Excitable people will eat twice as much without satisfying their hunger as those of better physical balance, yet they will not do more work. Some wives will save the price of a ton of coal by re-making for one of the children an old dress or a suit of clothes; some others, seeming to be destitute either of tact, skill or inclination, must buy everything new or go without. Economy is a science which quite a number of men and women have mastered by close observation and diligent practice; others do not seem to know of its existence.

A few days ago a couple of ladies who had been re-fitting their parlors compared notes. One had spent just $150 dollars and the other nearly $1,500, and the cheaper parlor was the prettier. It takes longer to learn economy than to learn a trade, but when learned it is the most consoling science in existence, no matter how much or how little money its devotee may have.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The Royal Mail steamer Derwent arrived at Montevideo yesterday and her mails will be here to-morrow.

A letter in reference to the Saladillo Tunnel imbroglio, epitomised from the Nacion, will be found in another column. If all Mr. N. N. says be true, then we'll ride to Salta on our first trip to that distant place, and certainly will not expose our insurance company to a "stick" by going by rail.

Governor Roach has gone back to La Plata for another week, after which he will return and resume the reins of Government.

We have received from London Los dos Hemisferios, a commercial magazine published there in English and Spanish, the object being to develop trade between England and Spanish-speaking countries. We wish it every success.

Kidd's Guia for this month is out. We commend it to all. We do remember our friend the ship-captain last year at Patagones, who knew everything about Buenos Ayres through the reading of Kidd's Guia.

If Sunday be a fine day, then all the world will be at the Alvear Grotto at the Recoleta, at 3 p.m., when the fountains, etc., will be inaugurated. We compliment the Lord Mayor on his very successful efforts to embellish the Recoleta hill. Every paving-stone in Buenos Ayres votes for Mr. Alvear as Lord Mayor.

Our distinguished Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Plaza, is taking the lead this winter in the way of official receptions. The "At Home" at the Minister's on last Wednesday night could not be outdone by Downing-street. All the world was there; and the fine saloons looked at their best, crowded as they were with the high life of Buenos Ayres.

It is as false as Mr. D'Amico's Belgrano speech that our Minister of Interior is about to resign. In fact, we never believe in these Ministerial resignations so much mooted in the papers. Ministers in the Plate do not go out as in England when the Government is beaten in the House. Here Congress has no such power, and Cabinet changes are hence less frequent with us.

We give to-day a letter from our Brother-Editor, who is resident in London, and whose prolonged silence may be explained by the books he has given to the world, which have perched him on a fame only obtainable by great talent and true ability. It will always be pleasurable, at least to the elder portion of our subscribers, to know that Mr M. G. Mulhall, the founder of the Standard, has again resumed his pen; and, although very busily occupied in London, he will always find time to send us a letter now and then, as a dilettanti," or free lance.

The News from Entre Rios is dreadful; they have had so much rain up there that all the "cimcones" are flooded. The Villaguay has covered the country, and we hear of one family of "carboneros" drowned. The camps, where the floods spread, are covered with drowned horn cattle. In the Banda Oriental also they have had terrible floods; and our colleague the Patria Argentina published the other day a most graphic account of an estanciero and his family, whose lives were saved by the poor people getting up into the trees and remaining there for two days and two nights. Nevertheless, with all this rain and floods, the people in Rioja and Catamarca are ruined by the unbroken drought of 3 years.

The British gunboat Rifleman arrived down from Paraguay at Rosario on 31st ult. with the senior officer on the station on board. Business in Rosario is so brisk that the consumption of gas is greatly on the increase. Merchants and others are busy in their offices up to all hours, and people cannot get to bed at the early hours of Buenos Ayres. The foreign barque Apedo has been bought for 3,750 pats gold, to load Gran Chaco sleepers for the Pergamino Railway.

At San Nicolas they are all up to their eyes in ice and "capones." The steamer Paraguay has nearly a full cargo of 20,000 capones on board and will sail next week. The potatoes subscribed for the poor people in Rioja and Catamarca are all rotting, as there seems some scandalous hitch about forwarding them to Rosario. Who is the Juez de Paz or Port Captain of San Nicolas, to allow such a scandal?

Eucalyptus trees $14 m/c each—300 bought to put as posts in the streets of the new Provincial Capital. We consider this monstrously cheap for a good-sized Eucalyptus tree. We have seen some of those trees bought by carpenters and others for $500 m/c each—but why not buy some plants from Hamonet and place them in the new streets? We believe they would grow up much faster than the Capital.

A funny case is now before the law courts. A rich house-owner of this city rented the lower storey of his own residence for a store, on condition that the tenant was not to use a hammer on any account, as the landlord was in delicate health and detested noise of any kind. The tenant, however, violated the hammer clause from the very first day, and, to make matters worse, his wife, who is a piano teacher, keeps banging away on a wheezy old instrument from morn till dewy eve. The poor landlord is half out of his senses from the combined row of the hammer and the piano, and has appealed to the law for redress.

We welcome back to the Plate Mr Henry Fisher, the popular manager of the Central Argentine Railway. Mr Robinson and other gentlemen connected with the railway went down to Montevideo to meet him.

The famous Sarah Bernhardt has at last consented to come out to the Plate. Signor Ciacchi telegraphs that he has her own hand and seal in the matter. The eccentric Sarah, however, has often slipped through a contract ere now. She is so thin that she can slip through a key-hole, or the eye of a good-sized needle.

The Rosario papers say that small-pox is raging terribly up there, and yet the mass of the people refuse to get vaccinated. If so, they must bear the fatal consequences—death or disfigurement.

The National Senate has raised the amount of the pension voted to Dr Rawson from 200 to 400 National dollars per month. No doubt the Deputies will agree to this. Dr Rawson more than deserves the larger sum.

Chile must have lost more men in the war than she likes to acknowledge. An English gentleman who has just arrived from Chile tells us that in Santiago all the guards and "checkers" on the tramways are women, some old and ugly as sin, others (the majority) young and lovely as virtue. The result of this innovation has been an increase of 25 per cent in the tramway receipts, and we commend the fact to our companies here. It is worthy of note that these female guards are treated with great politeness by the travelling public and, on their side, they do their duty quite as well as men. They all wear long white aprons and are most neatly dressed. We fear that another race of tramway "cocheros" must be imported here before any respectable female would consent to be a "mayorala."

The returns of the British Hospital for May were given round yesterday and shew:—31 patients on the 1st; 50 received; 45 discharged; 2 died, and 34 in the house yesterday.

Jimmy's twenty-five cent watch not running satisfactorily, he pried it open and dosed it from ma's bottle of peppermint, explaining to her that "I des it dot tomach ache."

A monstrously funny scene occurred in the Montevidean Chamber on Thursday during the debate on the Telegraph Convention. The gas went out, and the President ordered candles. The Usher of the Black Rod went out and soon returned with half a tallow candle, with a wash basin for a candlestick, placing it on the table before the Secretary of the Chamber. The Sec. looked completely taken aback, and shouted for Silver Rod to bring the Deputies' state candlesticks. Silver Rod snapped up the basin and candle and vanished, leaving the house in Cimmerian darkness. Deputy Bustamante then struck a match and began to read an Article of the Constitution, but was interrupted by Deputy Tezanos asking, if it was a joke, and rising to withdraw, saying that joking did not become the Uruguayan Parliament, (Loud cries of Yes! Yes! and No! No!) Deputy T. then clapped on his hat and retired, humming "Buena Sera" from the "Barbiere." Several others followed him, and before the Rods came back with the candles the whole assembly had gone home to bed.

We learned yesterday, that Saint Blas, or Saint Blaise is the Patron of the Worsted Trade, and this is the reason why he could not be worsted in the Derby.

Eva, noticing a flock of noisy, chattering blackbirds, said—"Mamma, I guess they're having a sewing society!"

Why did the late Egyptian war

MANY YOUNG PERSONS FROM 16 to 20 years of age, are greatly annoyed with roughness of the face, the skin being covered with unsightly pimples, blotches, discolorations, and flesh worms. To all such we advise the use of Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Pills, which, if persevered in, will so throughly cleanse and purify the humors of the system that the skin will become smooth, soft, and beautiful.

It is not What

Are generally termed 'Blood Purifiers' that people need when they are out of sorts, but good digestion. It is well digested food—bread and butter, beefsteak and mutton chops—that makes good blood and keeps it pure. Put the digestive organs in a healthy condition with a few doses of Dr Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and nature will do the rest. The blood cannot be impure if digestion is good.

ON 'CHANGE.

June 1st, 1883

Patacon	25.00
Cedulas A	100⅝
Cedulas E	86
National Bank Shares	105

The market this morning retained some of yesterday's brisk features, and operations in Cedulas and Shares looked active. The liquidation is progressing smoothly and no hitch is anticipated. The Cedula market opened weak, and prices flattened, but recovered subsequently, and the stock closed in demand. National Bank Shares look weak and prices are trembling; the efforts of the bulls are weak, and if the bears rely on any elements, the market might be driven to lower prices. The business of the Bank, meantime, is daily increasing, and its operations are very large. The offices are crowded and the enquiries so much felt that the premises must be enlarged before long. In spite of all these favorable arguments the outsider does not relish the idea of entering the speculation, and capital is held aloof.
Over 180,000 Cedulas were sold during official hours; a few thousand Series A changed hands for cash at 100½ and 100⅝. This series is growing firmer, owing to a conviction getting ground that the amortization of some will not be carried out on the scale that had been anticipated on the departure of the President of the Mortgage Bank for Europe. Close on $40,000 Series E changed hands also for cash; rates opened at 85⅞ and closed at 85, but immediately after the closing of official hours there were buyers for cash at 85⅞. Twenty thousand were sold for the middle of the month at 85⅝, and over 100,000 for the end of June at 85½-⅝. Operations ruled weak during official hours, but a firmer tendency was visible at the close of same.
1,700 National Bank Shares were sold during the morning. The paucity of operations for cash is remarkable; only 100 changed hands at 105. One hundred were sold for to-morrow at 105½. Fifteen hundred shares were sold for the end of the month; rates opened at 105⅞ and closed at 105½. Speculation is again drifting to the dullness of last month, and there are many who opine that June will be even duller than May.
It is quite remarkable to note the great contrast afforded by a comparison of operations on and off 'Change. Everything on the Bolsa has fallen into an extraordinary lull, whilst everything outside shews signs of the greatest activity. Speculation has fastened on lands and the capitalists of the market are buying leagues upon leagues outside the Alsina ditch. The men who are buying now are the very same who would not touch a league of frontier camp when selling at $10,000 % per league in the market. Foreign capitalists are also entering the land speculation, and the chief feature of the moment is the formation of land companies as in the U. States and in Canada. The latter fact will probably entail a further heavy rise in lands, but large tracts are merely secured for speculative purposes, it is questionable if the investment will turn out profitable. A sudden spec may be felt for the moment, but a reaction must set in later on. On the other hand, as lands secured at present prices for stocking purposes must be considered cheap, and the best corroboration of this assertion will be found in the numerous new estancias that are being started in the North, West and South of this Province. There is a scarcity in the market but a large area now will be soon opened beyond the XIIth Section of Provincial lands, close on 100 leagues South-West of this city, the increase of cattle and the progress of land to the bona fide investor at present fronting the estancias to the 5th Meridian.
Freights in this market are dull; but there is a steady demand for cereal for the shipment of cereals in this port and up rivers.
Mr. W. Mothe[illegible] was welcomed to-day; he arrived with Mr. Dowson from the West Coast.
The returns of the Buenos Aires Custom House during the month of May are the largest known since the foundation of same. The returns in May amount to no less than $1,785,350 nat., giving an average duty per diem of $74,378 nat. The receipts of the five months are:—

	$ nat.
January.....	1,670,500
February.....	1,570,500
March.....	1,575,000
April.....	1,745,500
May.....	1,785,500
Total.....	8,146,500

These figures give an average per month of $1,679,300 nat., and we may, the above calculation the returns of the current year at the very large amount of $19,500,000 nat. To judge by these heavy Custom House returns imports must be exceptionally heavy, since the exports of the three months do not amount to much. Imports are arriving in tremendous quantities, and the bulk of same go to the interior. The National Revenue of 1883 promises to eclipse all expectations and to surpass the figures of last year by several millions. The following table of the returns of the first five months of the following years will be found most interesting:—

Five mos. of 1879.....	6,070,000
Id 1880.....	5,600,000
Id 1881.....	6,500,000
Id 1882.....	7,300,000
Id 1883.....	8,100,000

The above figures are eloquent.
Several large sales of wool were reported done to-day in depots. Prices paid show a firmer feeling in the market.
Some exchange reported done yesterday at 49⅜ and to-day at 49½. The market shows no change and rates are maintained.
The Richmond, Capt. Grayston, is discharging 700 tons of cargo in this port; she will proceed hence to Rosario where she will take in a full cargo of cereals.
The R.M.S. Derwent arrived this morning in Montevideo with over one thousand tons of cargo and a crowd of passengers.
Cedulas—
For cash A 7,000 at 100⅛-⅜
For cash E 38,300 at 85½-⅝-86
For June 15th E 20,000 at 85⅜
For June 30th E 115,000 at 85½-⅜
Sales, 180,300
National Bank Shares—
For cash 100 at 105
For June 2nd 100 at 105½
For June 30th 1,500 at 105½-⅝-½
Sales, 1,700
The saladero faena of this province is now, we suppose, over, and the killing this season shows a great falling off from that of previous years, as appears by the following table:

Head
Faena 1880....	225,000
1881....	174,000
1882....	135,000
1883....	153,400

Thus, it will be seen we are each year going from bad to worse. The killing is falling off every season; we could have given the saladeristas this year 400,000 novillos for the faena, but the saladeristas are not able to keep up with the novillos.
The sale of 4 leagues of National Government land, in the district of Bahia Blanca, is reported to-day at 130,000 per league.
Mr Jones, the Manager of the River Plate Telephone Company, has presented his statutes to the Tribunal de Comercio for registering.
Owing to printer's mistake the sale of Indian Lands, published in our last issue, appeared at the rate of $800,000 m/c for 1½ leagues. The land in question was sold for $900,000 m/c. at the rate of $600,000 m/c per league. Furthermore the calculated increase in the wool clip of this year is about 25,000 bales, basing on a basis of the stock on hand in the "plazas," and not "950,000" bales as appeared through mistake in this column. Wool men in general consider this estimate correct

El Viernes 8 de Junio 1883
A las 2 p.m.
Venderemos al mejor precio y al contado un selectisimo lote de carneros y ovejas merinos, (conocido por Rambouillet) procedentes de la gran cabaña del afamado criador frances Mr Paul Bataille quien tiene adquiridos en las exposiciones europeas los siguientes premios por sus magnificos carneros,
25 medallas de oro 20 de plata y 15 de bronce
Entre las que figuran—Primer premio en la Exposicion de Paris de 1878. Primer premio en el concurso Internacional de Magdbourg (PRUSSIA)
en 1880 id id en el Palacio de la Industria 1883, y otros primeros premios en los grandes concursos de Chateaux Thyery 1875, Arras 1876, Compiegne 1877, Lille 1879, Veuily 1880 Versailles 1881 St. Quentin 1882 y
Paris 1883
Los animales denominados Merinos precoces son de un tamaño verdaderamente escepcional y como hasta la fecha no han venido al pais, es esta la raza formada por los criadores franceses para competir con los carneros ingleses Lincoln, Cotswold etc.
Los hacendados que buscan animales para carne y que deseen conservar las lanas finas en sus rebaños, deben adquirir algunos ejemplares de estos,
Pues reunen ademas de su
Tamano Escepcional
Y de su peso excesivo y facilidad en el engorde una finura extra en su vellon
La importacion de este lote de carneros y ovejas, ha sido debido a la constante insinuacion de algunas compatriotas residentes en Francia, que han tenido oportunidad de apreciar personalmente el grande y escojido rebaño de M. Paul Bataille.
Los señores criadores que deseen mayores datos sobre esta importante raza reputada por M. Andre Sanson (profesor del Instituto Nacional) la primera de Francia, pueden leer en su tratado de Zootecnia en el tomo 3° pag. 97 a 101, las palabras que les dedica y para mayor abundamiento y seguridad de informaciones, leer la obra escrita por el citado autor y titulada:
Revista Esperimental sobre el vellon de los Merinos Precoces y su valor como productores de carne
Los carneros estan ya en nuestra casa San Martin 51. La venta se anunciará con anticipacion para que los señores criadores puedan inspeccionar los animales.

The Colony in Gainza

Lands payable at eight years' credit without interest.

We have just concluded the sale of the 56 leagues of land we offered in Gainza at $250,000 m/c per league, payable 10 o/o or say $25,000 m/c cash, and the balance in eight yearly payment of $28,125 m/c without interest; last payment comes due in 1891; 28 purchasers of all nationalities bought these 56 leagues.
The land is noted for its goodness, and Clark's railway from Buenes Aires to Valparaiso passes near it, and will place settlers within reach of this city in one day.
The purchasers of these lands will probably double their capital in five years, although they have eight years to pay for them; because in the hands of 28 proprietors, in 5 years time we shall see all the elements of pastoral and agricultural progress firmly fixed in this colony.
We have still some 20 Leagues for sale, and we invite sheep and cattle farmers whether half-leaguers or ten-leaguers, to come to our office to 178 Calle San Martin to see the plans and study this business.
